

Business visitors meet at the International Trade Centre

expo67

April 28 to October 27,
1967. Montreal, Canada

A World of Opportunity for Business at expo67

Over 70 countries will participate at this great international exhibition—countries that are ready to talk business. To provide you with the facilities to explore business opportunities the chartered banks of Canada are sponsoring the International Trade Centre. This pavilion will consist of a Bank Concourse, the Business Development Bureau and the Expo Club.

Bank Concourse

Of particular interest to you will be the services offered by representatives of Canada's chartered banks. Experienced bank officers will be on hand to provide business information and offer counsel on: economic conditions in Canada; banking and commercial practices; rules and regulations governing the establishment of businesses; suitable location sites for new sales; assembly and manufacturing plants; investment opportunities; introductions to Canadian business men, legal firms, accountants and consultants.

Business Development Bureau

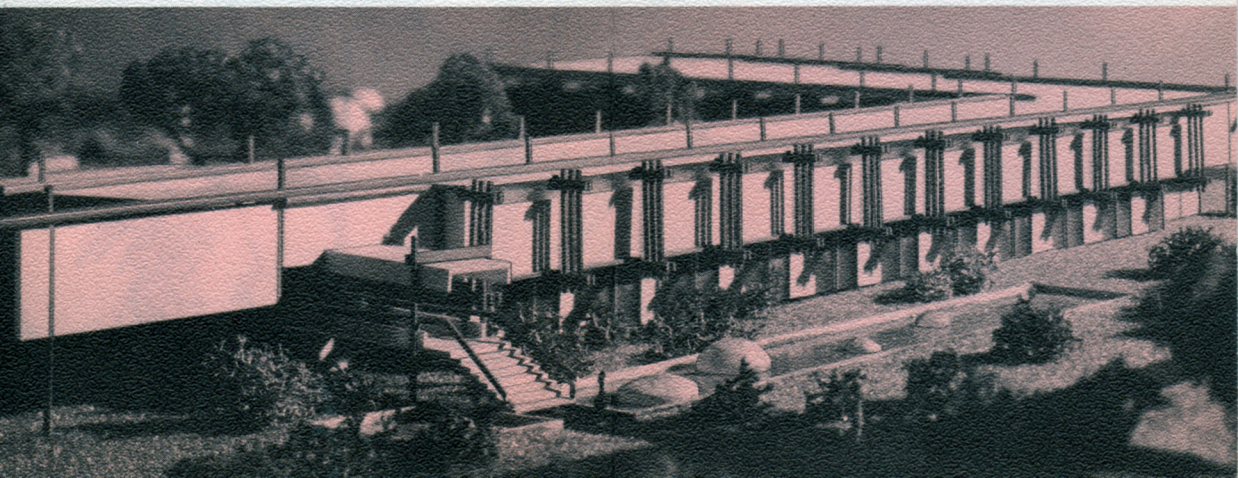

Representatives of federal and provincial trade departments will be on hand in the Business Development Bureau to assist you in any way possible through their extensive contacts with government and business throughout Canada. Also on hand in the Bureau will be qualified guides and interpreters, secretarial services, library, consultation and conference rooms, facilities for showing international trade and industrial promotion films, and international communications.

Expo Club

This will be a private club with dining facilities and lounges where you can meet and talk with business acquaintances in privacy and amid pleasant surroundings.

International Meeting Place

You are invited to enjoy the privileges that will be available to you through the International Trade Centre at Expo in 1967. Get in touch with a branch of our Bank, giving the anticipated dates of your visit and details of your particular business interests. Everything possible will be done to make your stay rewarding.
