MAN AND HIS WORLD: "SPORTS AND CULTURE
FOR UNDERSTANDING BETWEEN NATIONS"

Under the thematic banner "Sports and Culture for Understanding Between Nations", Man and His World, the splendid parkland in the heart of Montréal, officially opens for its ninth consecutive season.

From June 17 to September 6, Montréalers, Québécois and Canadians from every corner of the country as well as thousands of foreign visitors are expected to promenade through the vast, dreamlike exhibitions grounds, situated minutes from downtown Montréal on St. Helen's Island on the St. Lawrence River.

More than a symbol, Man and His world has become -- over the years -- a mecca for a multitude of people from all parts of the globe, who yearly converge upon the lush island site to experience the unfamiliar.

This summer, the presence of the Olympic Games in Montréal brings a new dimension to Man and His World. It's expected that both spectators at the Games and athletes will take advantage, and contribute to, the friendly feeling of harmony that has traditionally existed at Man and His World.

Man and His World this summer offers a stimulating program of both sports and cultural activities that surely will enhance the goodwill and understanding between nations.

Montréal. Man and His World 1976! Come along.

Relax, enjoy yourself, learn about the world!
