SCHOOL'S OUT!

Sunday, June 21st, is the first day of summer, and that means it won't be too much longer before the schools are closed and thousands of Mouseketeers from all over the world bring their families to view the wonders of the New York World's Fair. A few states nearby have already closed their schools, but here in New York City they won't close until June 26th, except the Catholic ones which close on June 19th (Grammar) and 24th (High). It all means a tremendous amount of people heading our way. However, it certainly won't come as a surprise. We are well prepared for it by having what many consider to be the best staff on the Fairgrounds. By-the-way, are you aware that last week we were visited by 16.7% of the total Fair attendance? That places us way up on the list of top-attendance attractions. Very few other pavilions can brag about drawing approx. one out of every five people who enter the grounds. And, while we're talking about the "count", don't forget that the turnstile count is to be telephoned into the Cash Control office just as soon as it's figured out. Thanx!

SPECIAL EMPLOYEE DISCOUNTS

Arrangements have been made which will enable all employees in the Pepsi-Cola Pavilion to get a 50% discount on the "It's A Small World" phonograph record and souvenir photo book. Normally these retail for 50¢ and $1.00, respectively. By going to the Cash Control office and showing your World's Fair I.D. card, you may purchase the phonograph record for only 25¢ each and the beautiful souvenir book for only 50¢. These will be wonderful souvenirs to show your Grandchildren when you're telling them all about the time "...back in '64, when we worked at the New York World's Fair!" There are no special hours or days when purchases may be made. Anytime during our normal operating hours will be fine, but if the window is unusually busy, please try to return later.

FINE ARTS COMING TO THE FAIR

The World's Fair next week will expand its interest in American art when it places the collected works of 250 American artists on display at the World's Fair Pavilion of Fine Arts at a preview reception on Monday, June 22nd. The exhibition will be open to the public the following day. The World's Fair Pavilion of Fine Arts (50¢) is located in the International Area in the building originally designed as the Pavilion of Argentina, next door to Mexico and across the street from Korea. The pavilion also houses a restaurant and cocktail lounge.

DISNEYLAND PRESENTS:

"THE RETURN OF TED CROWELL"

He's back! Ted Crowell (last seen here in April when he was featured with that great orientation team of "France, Crowell and Burnes" who appeared daily in the beautiful Training Room of the Fair Motor Inn) has returned to the "Small World" to replace George Mills who has returned to Disneyland for a well-earned rest.

ANSWER TO LAST WEEK'S PUZZLER

The answer is: A Hole.

TOWER LOUNGE NOTES

The Tower Lounge seems to be getting busier and busier every week. (if that's possible), and Anita Williams and Genevieve Barrios, the two Leads, really have their hands full trying to schedule and re-schedule the Hostesses so they can give everyone that special "Special Guest" treatment and still be able to staff the Lounge effectively. Among the many visitors this past week, we entertained GOV. BELLMAN of Oklahoma; MISS GLORIA MAGAPAGAL, the daughter of the President of the Philippines; MISS PERLE MESTA, the famous Washington, D.C., "Hostess with the mostest" upon whom the Broadway musical "Call Me Madam" was based; CARMEN LOMBARDO, the bandleader; LOWELL THOMAS, the famous traveler, news-commentator, lecturer and producer; MRS. CHESTER BOWLES, wife of the American Ambassador to India; MR. JOYCE HALL, of the Hallmark Card Co.; MR. JOHNSON, of the Johnson Wax Co.; HUGH DOWNS, TV personality; MRS. RAY MILLAND, wife of the actor; SHAH MOHAMMED REZA PAHLAVI of Iran and EMPRESS FARAH DIBA, his wife; FEE PING LOUIE, of "It's A Small World"; CHUCK DARGEN of Disneyland; BOB WORMHOUDT of Disneyland; MRS. CASEY STENGLE; BILL TODMAN of Todman and Goodson Productions; MISS GINA LOLLOBRIGIDA, the actress (who ran up the Tower Lounge stairs and came face to face with Walt Disney and was so thrilled to see him that she took out her autograph book and asked him to sign it); RUDY VALLEE, star of Broadway's "How To Succeed In Business Without Really Trying"; and LIBERACE, the famous pianist.

AFRICAN PAVILION WOWS 'EM AND UPS PRICE

The Pavilion of Africa, at a time when other shows are crying about the lack of box-office receipts, has actually boosted its admission prices. Originally, it cost adults $1.00 and children 50¢ to gain entrance. This remains the same on weekdays, but on Friday, Saturday and Sunday the tab is $1.50 for adults and 75¢ for children. Playing to between 10 and 12,000 guests on weekends, the pavilion offers a museum, exhibits, zoo-menagerie and a compound stage featuring Gold Coast and Watusi (Burundi) dance groups. The stage is also visible from the quaint treehouse restaurant tables.

CONGRADULATIONS!

PLUS - an average of 3800 per hour for three hours on the same day!

"I'M LATE, I'M LATE FOR A VERY IMPORTANT DATE!"

White Rabbit, Esq. was so very late, in fact, that he said he had ".no time to say HELLO". This was all well and good back in merry old England when Alice followed him down the rabbit hole and into a crazy place called Wonderland, but it just does not "go" here at the "Small World" where everyone is counting on your being at work on time, and where, if you find it's impossible for you to be on time, we WANT you to call and say, "Hello". Tardiness and absenteeism are on the increase. (A word to the wise.....etc., etc.)

THIS WEEK'S PUZZLER

A Pepsi Hostess was stacking a pile of sandwiches in Pepsi Patio #2, when Dray said to her, "I didn't think we'd have a hundred of those tuna sandwiches left by this time." The Hostess replied, "But, we don't have a hundred left. However, if I had half as many more as I now have, plus two sandwiches and a half, we would have a hundred." How many tuna sandwiches did she have? (Answer next week.)

"SMALL WORLD" HOSTS AND HOSTESSES
DOUBLE AS UNICEF VOLUNTEERS

After working a busy 8-hour shift at the "It's A Small World" attraction, several of our Hosts and Hostesses are also putting in long hours as volunteer workers at the UNICEF Garden and Information Center. Pepsi-Patio Host Bob Feather has even recruited his wife for the volunteer assignment. They are joined by Pepsi Patio Hostesses Carol May and Joan Fishbein, as well as two of our Seven Dwarfs, "Doc" (Alex Karilanowic) and "Happy" (Dan Mallea). We are all proud of their unselfish work on the behalf of UNICEF.

EMILE GREETES THE SHAH AND HIS EMPRESS

Emile Nourbakhsh was able to say, "Hello", to the Shah of Iran when he and his royal entourage visited us last Saturday. Later, after they had visited the attraction and were again seated in the front of their chartered Glide-A-Ride, the Empress called Emile over and they had quite a long conversation amidst the popping of flashbulbs and the hustle and bustle of reporters trying to record their conversation.
