THE INVITATIONS ARE OUT

Because so many of the other pavilions have helped us in so many way (with preferential entrance for our VIPs from the Studios and WED) and because they have invited us to see their shows free of charge (or at greatly reduced rates), we felt it was time we reciprocated. Therefore, effective immediately, all Fair employees, upon presentation of their World's Fair I.D. card, will be admitted free of charge to the Pepsi-Cola Pavilion to see Walt Disney's "It's A Small World" a Salute to UNICEF and all the world's children. They will be admitted between 9:15 a.m. and 10:00 a.m. ONLY!! They are to use the pass gate to the right of the turnstiles. The Attraction Host at the Main Gate will check each I.D. to see that the bearer is the one to whom the card is issued. Please note that this invitation is for employees ONLY - not their friends, dates, etc. Also, please note that under NO circumstances is anyone to be admitted free of charge at any time other than from 9:15 to 10:00 a.m. Everyone's cooperation will be needed. Thank you.

LATEST CELEBRITIES TO VISIT OUR LOUNGE

Our United States Ambassador to Vietnam, MAXWELL TAYLOR; Mr. & Mrs. CURTIS ROOSEVELT; DICK SHAWN; the United States DAVIS CUP TEAM; TIPPI HEDREN; and the DODGER BASEBALL TEAM!

STUFF & THINGS DUG UP HITHER & YON

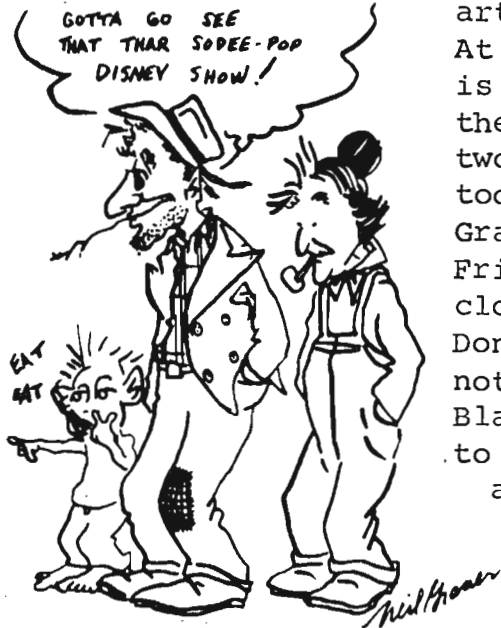

Orchids to all the fine voices heard daily over our newly installed audience-control speakers in the garden area. It adds so much when a friendly voice is on hand to greet our guests. Let's keep up the good work down there!.....Believe it or not our time clock has finally been repaired and is no longer telling you that you arrived early for work.....That other clock is for the employees of the Pepsi-Cola office who service the many machines scattered throughout the grounds.....Mickey Mouse looks mighty happy with his new catwalk high over the Passport Booths.....More orchids to the maintenance crew for all the fine work and additions around our attraction.....Ray Lieberman wins the Haircut of the Week award.....First week cleanliness winners were Patio 2-Day Shift and Patio 1-Night Shift..... Second week winners are Patio #2 - Day & Night Shifts.....Pepsi Diet Cola is now available at both of our patios.....The Pepsi Lead Men are very proud of their new expensive, all mahogany desks.....Did you hear about the guest who bought his passport from Barbara White and stood in front of the window for awhile. Finally, she asked him if she could help him and he replied, "Why, certainly, young lady - where are my Green Stamps?!" And, you know what? - He MEANT it!!!..... We hope everyone has noticed the new Pepsi-Cola signs around the sides of the Pavilion.....

PREMIER SHOWING OF WORKS OF LOCAL ARTISTS

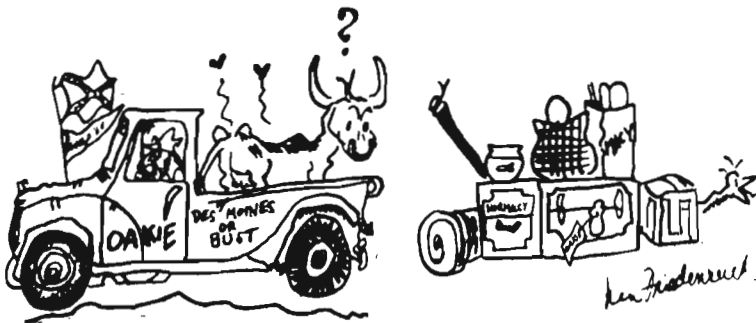

NOTES ON WORLD'S FAIRS

THE FARMERS AT THE FAIR

By special request and by special arrangement with the artists, "Big News At The Small World" is happy to print the first works of two budding cartoonists, Neil Grauer and Ken Friedenreich, two close friends of Donovan Blair, noted son of Mary Blair. In addition to drawing, they also work very hard recording for their own radio shows which they say can be heard on their privately owned station NAG, Poke's Hole, N.J. Whichever they decide to stick with, we here at "It's A Small World" wish them every success!

The Unisphere, the largest globular structure ever built by man, will remain after the Fair is gone, and it will join a host of other mementos of previous world's fairs which dot the world. Among them are the Jefferson Memorial (1904 Louisiana Purchase Exposition, St. Louis); Midway Plaisance (Colubian Expo. of 1893, Chicago); Municipal Stadium (1926 Sesqui-Centennial Expo., Phila.); Eiffel Tower (1889, Paris World's Fair); Treasure Island (Golden Gate International Expo. of 1939, 'Frisco); Monument to the Molecule (Brussels Fair, 1958); Seattle Space Needle (1960 World's Fair), and many others. The only remnant of the 1915 World's Fair in San Francisco, the decaying Palace of Fine Arts, is going to be refurbished. It'll cost the city and the state an estimated $8 million and, when completed, it will become a unit of the California State Park System. With all those fairs so close to one-another, you'd think that no one would even be thinking about the next one, - and, yet, they ARE! In next week's issue we'll delve into some of the many world's fairs on the horizon. Somehow, they all appear to be in the United States. They'll cover the country from Boston, Massachusetts to Long Beach, California, and one is already endorsed by the Bureau of International Expositions. The battle is on. We'll fill you in on the details next week, by jiminy!

DISNEY TELEVISION NEWS

Keeping yourself neat and trim won't be any problem at all after a few lessons from that world-famous health nut, Prof. Ludwig Von Drake. Have the family watch Walt Disney's "Wonderful World of Color" this Sunday at 7:30 p.m., and you'll all find yourselves "IN SHAPE WITH VON DRAKE!"

DID YOU KNOW?

Flushing Meadows, the site of two spectacular world's fairs (1939-40 and 1964-65) was once a large dump and is described in detail in F. Scott Fitzgerald's novel "The Great Gatsby". He called it a "valley of ashes".
